Plattsburg papers please copy. A few moments past twelve o'clock, last Tuesday night, May 18, the spirit of Mr. Jas. A. Fishback winged its flight to God who gave it. Though a member of no church, he was a Christian at heart. Forgiving in spirit he held enmity against none, but forgave from his very heart every wrong. Oh! how often we have heard him repeat the words, his motto, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." To those who knew him heat there was no truer, nobler, maniler man. He leaves behind him four children to deeply mourn the loss of a dear father. He suffered much, but bore it quietly and , atiently, and passed sway without a murmur, without a sigh, with a sweet smile upon his countenance that rested there even when the casket a sign, with a sweet smile upon his counte-name that rested there even when the casket wes closed for the last time.
